Arabs Slay 11 Jews In Attack on Fort

About 700 Arabs Reported in Battle; British Units Alerted

Jerusalem, March 24 (AP)—Arab irregulars attacked a fortress-like Jewish stronghold six miles north of Jerusalem today, and 11 Jews were known to have been slain.

British troops moved out of barracks here toward the Jewish settlement of Neve Yacov, where army sources said about 700 Arabs are attacking. British artillery units were alerted for duty.

Two armored cars en route to relieve Neve Yacov have been immobilized by Arab fire, Palestine police reported.

Neve Yacov is the only Jewish settlement between Jerusalem and Ramallah, headquarters of Abdul Kader Hussein's Arab irregulars. It is completely occupied by Hagana, the Jewish militia. Women and children were removed weeks ago.

The settlement is surrounded by barbed wire and commanded by a two-story concrete pillbox fortress. It has been the scene of a number of skirmishes between Hagana defenders and Arab raiders. The settlement situated on a high hill, commands the main highway from Jerusalem to the Arab strongholds of Ramallah, Zablin and Jenin.

British security forces, thinned by gradual withdrawal of troops, appear to be losing their fight to prevent chaos in Palestine. Many observers said the situation deteriorated even in the past 24 hours. Three principal cities—Jerusalem, Haifa and Tel Aviv—are virtually battlegrounds.

Sheik Hassan Bey Salameh, the man assigned by the Arabs to conquer all-Jewish Tel Aviv, has declared he is ready to do it as soon as the British leave. He has headquarters in all-Arab Jaffa, neighboring Tel Aviv.

The Jews rely largely on Hagana, a 25,000-man army.

Man Dies Suddenly At Bus Garage

Edward E. Neal Employed by Trailways Stricken Early Today

Edward E. Neal, 49, of 46 Tompkins street, who had been employed as a bus washer at the Trailways Bus Depot, Broadway and Pine Grove avenue for about five years, died suddenly of a heart attack about 6:40 a. m. today at the terminal, the police said.

Former Ernest A. Kelly was summoned at 6:12 a. m. and issued the official death certificate of death due to coronary occlusion. Neal was pronounced dead by Dr. John F. Larkin.

The police were first notified at 6:23 a. m. in a call from the dispatcher then on duty at the midtown terminal who said that a man had been taken suddenly ill. Officers George Bowers and Gerald Every were sent and Bowers reported back later identifying the man as Neal.

Neal, who was born May 17, 1908, was a member of St. Mark's A.M.E. Church, Colonial City Lodge 733, B.P.O.E.

Purchasing Agent Duties Outlined at Charter Meeting

Would Order, Take Care of Materials for City; Board of Estimate Is Discussed

Specific powers and duties were tentatively agreed upon for the proposed city purchasing agent during a regular meeting of the Charter Revision Committee Tuesday night at the mayor's office.

The agent would head the purchasing department of the city. Duties outlined included the right to purchase and be responsible for the proper receipt and care of all materials and supplies, including those on which bids are obtained after notice to present those purchased without the requirements of competitive bidding for all of the departments, boards, bureaus and offices of the city.

It also was pointed out by the members that the agent shall have charge of such storehouses and the warehouses of the city as the Common Council may, by ordinance, establish for the storage and safe keeping of city property.

Would Promote Savings

Another fact discussed last night was that a purchasing agent handling the purchases for all departments of the city, would eliminate the duplication of effort and promote savings by mass purchasing of supplies, equipment and certain materials.

Members also agreed that the Common Council shall make rules and regulations not inconsistent with the general laws of the state or with the charter, prescribing the procedure, conditions, methods and practices that shall pertain to all purchases of materials and supplies by the purchasing department.

Construction of the proposed Board of Estimate should be so that it will not interfere with the elected mayor in carrying out the policies and wishes of the people, Peter Koresman, secretary of the New York State Patrolmen's Association, told the members last night.

Koresman, in his brief talk as guest, referred to the board which was proposed at the March 18 meeting.

President May Face Battle For Democratic Nomination

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Reports of new big-city opposition and a "serious political situation" in California: multiplied signs today that President Truman may face a tough fight for the Democratic nomination.

Chicago politicians visiting Washington were said to have brought word that they fear it will not be long before the rash of criticism for Mr. Truman's policies breaks out in their ranks.

Unlike the Dixie complaint against the President's civil rights program, northern opposition is based on the administration's about-face on Palestine.

Criticism became so hot in New York that three Brooklyn district leaders announced they won't support the President for the nomination. One of these, James M. Power, said last night two party clubs in the 13th Assembly District shortly will announce their support of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At Los Angeles, Democratic State Chairman James Roosevelt summoned 62 prospective National Convention delegates to an "urgent meeting" in Sacramento next Thursday. Roosevelt issued the call "because of the serious political situation."

He did not amplify. But there have been demands within the party in California for the ex-

Plans Gain Backing To Drop Husbands, Veterans, Over 27s

Washington, March 24 (AP)—Plans to exempt husbands, veterans and men over 27 from any peacetime draft gained fresh backing in Congress today.

While Capitol Hill waited for military chiefs to blueprint the nation's defense machinery, two lawmakers spoke out for keeping manpower demands within narrow limits.

Chairman Gurney (R-S.D.) of the Senate Armed Services committee, told a reporter he expects any plan to revive Selective Service to leave out "all real veterans of the last war as well as all married men."

And Rep. Wadsworth (R-N.Y.), who wrote the World War 2 draft law, said he thinks the age span should be 19 to 26 or 27. He also suggested exempting veterans.

Wadsworth said Chairman Andrews (R-N.Y.) of the House Armed Services committee has asked him to help draw up new draft legislation.

Meanwhile it was learned that the Senate committee turned down a proposal calling for registration of men up to 45 years old.

Gurney said his committee, still awaiting information from the armed forces, "may have a more complete picture by later this week." But he added:

"I don't care if we never get a recommendation from the military. We can draft our own bill."

The South Dakotan, who has said he expects 10 of the group's 13 members to support both U.M.W. and the temporary draft, told a reporter he hopes the committee will recommend them "simultaneously."

The two measures were asked by President Truman to buck up this country's stand against the further spread of Communism in Europe.

Yesterday Mr. Truman reviewed the financial position of the military agencies with the heads of the armed forces and the director of the budget.

There was no announcement of decisions. But other government officials said later that from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000 might be added to the $15,000,000,000 Mr. Truman already has asked for the army, navy and air force next year.

As part of the preparedness program, Russell J. Hopley, the nation's new Civilian Defense director, urged states and communities to form "catastrophe organizations" ready to spring into action in the event of attack.

Hopley told reporters he hopes to have the voluntary civilian defense setup organized on a nationwide basis by next fall.

Ursiny to Be Tried By Czech Commies For Aiding Spies

Will Be First of Several High Officials Who Will Face Trial for Actions

Prague, Czechoslovakia, March 24 (AP)—Czechoslovakia's Communist Government will try former Deputy Premier Jan Ursiny on charges of aiding spies for western nations, the Interior Ministry announced today.

Ursiny, a Slovak Democrat, will be the first of several former high office holders to face hearings, the announcement said. The trial will take place before the newly reorganized Supreme Court of Slovakia at Bratislava.

The Interior Ministry charged that Ursiny had used his office in the pre-Communist Government to aid a ring of agents operating in lands as distant as Argentina and Sweden.

The Interior Ministry also said investigation of an espionage plot in January at the city of Most has involved a number of new suspects.

Capt. Josef Kraka, of the Czechoslovak Army Staff already has been sentenced to 16 years imprisonment, and Lt. Ivan Popovic to four months by a military court.

A Communist members of Parliament said last night President Eduard Benes had promised he never will fight Communist policy in Czechoslovakia.

The deputy B. Stiner, told a group of Czech war veterans that Benes made his statement to Communist Premier Klement Gottwald at the president's country home. He did not say when the statement was made.

Stiner quoted Benes as follows: "I do not intend to leave the republic I never intend to take part in anti-Communist policy. I never will come into contact with those who are enemies of Czechoslovakia."

(The resigned Czechoslovak ambassador to the United States, Juraj Slavik, said last week he believed President Benes is a prisoner of the Communists, Alexander Parodi, French delegate to the United Nations, repeated the statement to the Security Council yesterday.)

Lake Katrine Man And Son Injured

Team Runs Away Tossing Barleys From Wagon on Pearson Farm

Edward Barley, Sr., 45, of Lake Katrine and his son, Edward Jr., 10, were injured when a team of horses drawing a platform wagon bolted as they were headed for a barn on the George Pearson farm yesterday afternoon.

Both were taken to the Kingston Hospital in the W. N. Conner ambulance. Barley was admitted for treatment of a fractured shoulder blade and body bruises. The son, who suffered a laceration of the head, was treated and discharged.

Accounts of the accident reported to the owner of the farm indicated that Barley, who was wearing rubber boots, might have slipped on the wagon as it was headed down a steep hill. He fell between the horses, the reports said, and the team apparently became frightened.

The accident happened on Barley's first day of employment on the Pearson farm which is near the Lake Katrine station shortly before 2 p. m.

State police at the Lake Katrine sub-station were notified and investigated. They reported that the accident happened after the team had turned from Route 9-W and headed down the hill toward the Pearson farm.

Barley, according to the reports, saved himself from more serious injury when he grabbed a forward part of the wagon and pulled himself from between the running team.

Residents of the area were attracted to the scene by the runaway dash of the horses.

Martin, Taft Predict Veto Will Be Stopped With Votes to Spare in Finale

Exemptions Boost

Individuals Would Get $600 Instead of $500 Off as at Present

Washington, March 24 (AP)—The House passed today the $4,800,000,000 tax-cutting bill, sending it to President Truman.

The vote was 289 to 66. This is 52 votes more than the two-thirds which would be needed to override a veto.

The measure cuts taxes for all the 52,000,000 income taxpayers and drops 7,400,000 low income persons from the tax rolls.

Mr. Truman is expected to veto the bill quickly, perhaps with a message citing needs for more billions for military preparedness in the drive to stop Communism.

The question then will be whether the bill's backers in Congress can put it into law over his veto. It takes a two-thirds vote in both Senate and House to do that. That test may come some time next week.

With large numbers of Democrats deserting the President on the issue, Speaker Martin (R-Miss.) and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) confidently predicted a veto will be overridden with votes to spare.

In the House debate, Rep. Doughton (D-N.C.) expressed hope a veto, if there is one, will be overridden. Doughton was for many years (when Democrats controlled Congress) head of the Tax-Writing Ways and Means Committee. The present bill was written by his successor in that job, Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.).

The Senate vote on the bill last Monday was 78 to 11. But some Democrats in both House and Senate who voted for the bill might switch and vote to uphold a veto.

The House originally voted last February for a $6,500,000,000 tax cut. The Senate trimmed that down. One purpose was to try to win enough votes to beat a veto.

Cut Is 12.6 Per Cent

As finally sent to the White House, the bill cuts taxes 12.6 per cent for those with the smallest incomes on which taxes must be paid. The cut ranges down to 5 per cent on the biggest incomes.

Under the bill tax withholding from wages and salaries would be reduced on May 1. But the tax cut would be figured from January 1. Taxpayers would get refunds next year on overpayments between January 1 and May 1.

Other main things the bill would do:

1. Increase individual exemptions from $500 to $600.
2. Apply to all states for community property principle whereby husbands and wives may split the family income for tax reporting purposes getting lower rates.
3. Provide special exceptions for elderly persons and for the blind.

The House vote came after a debate marked by arguments from some Democrats that America's stop-Communism program will require expenditure of new billions to build up military strength, and a tax pay may throw the treasury again into the red.

Hanged Playing Cowboy

Audubon, N. J., March 24 (AP)—Barry Wayne Lafave, eight, who was named New Jersey's "healthiest and prettiest" baby boy in 1941, hanged himself accidentally yesterday while playing a game of "cowboys and horseshoes." Police Sgt. Henry Mehner said. Mehner said that a father discovered their son's body in the basement of their home after returning from a business trip to Camden, N. J. The parents said Barry had been fond of re-acting wild west scenes, alternating in the role of horse thief and cowboy, Mehner said.

Mehner said Barry apparently hanged himself with a rope noose thrown over a basement beam. His cowboy hat lay on a chair nearby.

Split in P.A.C. Occurs

New York, March 24 (AP)—The New York city area now has two C.I.O. Political Action Committees—split on the third party issue—after a split in the leadership of the P.A.C. A Wallace presidential candidacy. A new one was set up here yesterday on a regional basis by the state C.I.O., which follows the national C.I.O.'s opposition to Wallace. The regional committee, a spokesman said, will work in open opposition to the Political Action Committee of the Greater New York County, which has refused to go along with the anti-Wallace policy.

Man Accused of Stabbing Still Being Sought

Murray Gold, 33, operator of a New York popcorn concession was still being sought by the police today on the charge that he stabbed Mary Ann Dunham, 35, of this city in Marlborough last Sunday morning, as the authorities reported several more telephone calls believed to have been made by Gold since his escape.

Several phone calls to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where the Kingston woman is under treatment for five stab wounds in the back, were said to have been placed by Gold, and it is believed that he is now in the Metropolitan area.

Reports also indicated that Gold also might have telephoned the Newburgh News, either to obtain information or to attempt securing legal advice. One source reported today that such a telephone call had been made to the Newburgh newspaper, allegedly by Gold.

Other unofficial reports indicated that Gold might have been in the Kingston area at one time since he was reported to have made a get-away from the police at Beacon Sunday. The authorities reported that Gold was believed to have been on a train there and fled when he realized that the search was closing in on him.

The local woman, meanwhile, was reported making progress in her recovery from effects of the wounds at the Newburgh hospital.

Democracy Fails Clergyman Says, Blames Truman

Says Criticism of Country
Done With Heavy Heart;
Pleads for Support

Woodstock, March 23—Blasting the Truman administration, its foreign policy, administration of the Marshall plan, and other policies currently under consideration, including the Universal Military Training Bill, the Rev. Lee R. Ball, pastor of the Lake Mahopac Methodist Church, said in his talk Sunday evening to the Woodstock Discussion Group, "This week we repudiate our solemn word . . . we sell out our honor, and go back on the partition of Palestine. This nation is coming to a judgment day. We are sowing the wind when we sell out human dignity and decency for the sake of stinking Arab oil we will need to fight the Russians."

Dr. Henry L. Bibby, Kingston, introduced the speaker and referred to him as the "most socially conscious and politically conscious minister I know of."

Dr. Bibby recalled that the Rev. Mr. Ball was well known in Woodstock for his annual talks during the past four or five years.

Wallace to Save World.
Quoting from an editorial written by Max Lerner which recently appeared in P.M., the speaker began his denunciation of the present administration in Washington, and his plea for Wallace votes which he inferred was the only salvation for the world. Said he, "one criticizes his country with a heavy heart, only because he loves it . . . because it has forsaken its tradition."

The speaker continued, "We have shown such self-righteousness . . . we refused the loan to Poland because of Communists . . . we refused Czechoslovakia for the same reason . . . let us remind ourselves in due humility that this was done because the U. S. wanted to dictate where relief should go."

It was pointed out by the speaker that in conditioning the American people for war, progressive writers and radio commentators were given "the axe." He went on to say that "despite all this we have been losing our cold war," and begged those present to write President Truman to the effect "that the American people want neither a cold nor a hot war."

Helpless as Italians
"The 18th of April election in Italy will be more significant for the American people than will our own election in November. I think a shooting war could start in Italy next month before or after the 18th of April, without any declaration by Congress. The American people are just as helpless as the Italian people. Would not Truman provoke a war just to try to win an election he can't possibly win?"

"We live in a world where if we get tough, somebody else will get tough. In an atomic and germ war, we will lose with everybody else who takes part in it. Those talking about such a war are stupid and insane. There will be no question about the weapons used in another war. We should ask ourselves what makes Communism? Would we not say it grows with the kind of world existing after World War 2? People are hungry, cold, desperate and losing hope for something from democracy they do not see. Isn't that the kind of world where Communism grows?"

"There was a time when the people of Europe looked to the democracies with hope. Perhaps there is just as much democracy in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary as there is in South Carolina. Mr. Byrnes has suggested we would solve all of our differences with Russia if Russia were granted the right to take ten billions of dollars worth of reparations out of Germany and if we would agree to the Ruhr valley being under international control. Why should we not grant these two concessions if that would make for understanding again, and one world again?"

Says Preparation Means War
About how to stop the spread of Communism in this country, the speaker stated, the way to do it was to make our democracy work here by halting inflation here and by planning for full employment through occupation for peace and not by preparation for war. "Communism is not to blame for high prices or for our coming depression. Communism is an idea . . .

a way of life . . . and you cannot stop ideas with guns. That is the thing men like Forrestal cannot understand. The British tried that on us in 1776 and it did not work. You cannot draw a line across Europe and say 'there Communism stops.' The men in the Kremlin could not do that. It is not that kind of thing. It cannot be controlled in that kind of way. Ideas operate wherever there are people. Show me one case in history, where a nation who has prepared for war has gotten peace. If you prepare for war, you get war. The American people want peace."

And then "that I think is the meaning of the fantastic development of the third party before our very eyes—Henry Wallace's party. The people want peace, and I predict they will reject anything less. The price of our incredible self-righteousness is depression or war to get us out of it. Henry Wallace is the only American statesman talking hard common sense. . . . Build the third party. What is good religion is always good economics and good politics. The tide is beginning to turn."

The by-passing of the United Nations came in for its share of criticism by the speaker. In describing what he termed to be Mr. Truman's attitude toward Russia, the Rev. Mr. Ball said, "Years back when the Nazi Panzer Divisions attacked Russia, Truman, then senator, remarked if the Nazis are winning, we should help the Russians and if the Russians are winning, we should help the Nazis. That was the extent of his perception. Some years later, President Truman began his first press conference with a sharp crack against the Soviet Union. In view of this, later developments are not surprising."

The Thomas committee did not escape the speaker's lash, as he cited "the deportation of our labor leaders because of the color of their politics. The Thomas committee has scared the pants off the Hollywood producers. The teachers will be next and I would not be surprised if they then went after the churchmen."

And "Truman talks like a liberal but he has done more to undermine and sabotage rights in this country than any other individual in his plea for loyalty tests. We are very near having an F.B.I. rule in this country." The Council of Bishops was praised by the speaker for its stand on these loyalty tests which according to the Rev. Mr. Ball stated, "we agree the government has the right to test loyalty of employees, but no right to dare violate the constitutional rights of the individual."

The speaker referred to the temporary draft under consideration in Washington when he said, "now comes the call for the temporary draft and for the Universal Military Training bill. That, despite the fact that the day before the speech was made, the

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

Amid the crescendo of name-calling, distrust and bitterness in the capitals and press of the two countries, Russia and the United States continue to sell things to each other. While there is every evidence that the Department of State and the Soviet foreign ministry find it increasingly difficult to talk intelligently together, American and Russian traders still find a common language.

This trade is a source of constant irritation for the advocates of a harsh policy toward Russia. They maintain that it is foolish to ship potential war materials to Russia and her satellites while spending billions to help the rest of Europe to resist Communism. Export controls now are supposed to prevent shipment of goods which would directly aid Russia's war potential, but the line between the goods of peace and those of war is almost invisible.

In defense of continued trade, administration spokesmen say that we need materials from behind the iron curtain. Outstanding examples are magnesium and chrome, both highly important in modern metal industries and both of which we need to import. Russia has the world's greatest sources of chrome, while the United States is far down the list. Russia on the other hand needs the products of American industry.

The relationship between international politics and military strategy on the one hand and foreign trade on the other cannot be dismissed. Is this not in itself evidence that as long as Russia and America can trade with each other and need to do so, we have a basic need of peace with each other? And is it not cause to hope that we may some day be able to understand each other politically? Or at least to get along with each other without fear and aggression?

The present Russian rulers may have to learn some of this the hard way. But no regime lasts forever.

NIGHT DRIVING

Night time is death time for too many motorists. About 60 per cent of all traffic fatalities occur after dark though only one of every four cars is on the road at this time. More than 600,000 persons a year are killed or disabled in night car accidents.

The main causes of these calamities include: intoxicated drivers, who imbibe more freely at night; poor urban and country highway lighting with few guide signs illuminated; fewer traffic squad men on duty than by day.

Decrease in night driving accidents is up to localities. A city can find which are its danger sections by surveys. Often such study will reveal bad intersections with records of repeated crashes. Stretches of country roads will show similar histories of trouble at specific spots. Such hazard zones often can be improved by simple devices such as an extra light, straightening a curve, or widening a stretch of road.

Pedestrians can use more care. Carrying a lighted flashlight is an excellent accident preventive, particularly for those walking along poorly lighted streets or highways at dusk or after dark.

The toll from auto accidents can be lowered if everyone helps.

OMINOUS DISCONTENT

Food prices have gone so high as to limit purchases of clothing and other necessities of life by a substantial group, including not only unskilled workers who are generally poorly paid, but many white-collar employees, such as teachers, social workers and clergymen.

"The pressure toward radical economic and social doctrine on these important groups must be strong indeed." These ominous words come from a Republican congressional committee, called the Herter Special Committee on Foreign Aid, which gets its name from its vice-chairman, Congressman Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

Some investigating committees would like to throw all discontented groups into jail. The Herter committee, far more wisely,

PALESTINE AND TRIESTE

Because we have lived in crisis and fear for nearly two decades, we lack the stability to appraise historic values. Cowardice is not caution; it is lack of character; it is egotism degenerated to egocentricity. It is cowardice rather than principle that controls policy in this country now. It is not the caution of statesmanship in the face of great events; it is the petty fear of those who dare not meet oblivion. It is not national; it is personal.

Let us analyze Palestine and Trieste as examples of the pursuit of opportunity rather than adherence to principle.

The Palestine problem arises out of the Balfour Declaration in 1917. Therefore, there has been ample time to formulate a policy which is based either upon high principle, self-interest, or a combination of both. Up to 1945, the United States tentatively supported the general purposes of the Balfour Declaration, which recognized the establishment of "a national home" for the Jewish people in Palestine of a national home. The British in 1939 offered, in a White Paper, a solution to that problem which actually was as good, if not superior, to the Partition Plan of the United Nations. This 1939 plan was rejected by American Zionists who led in opposition to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, who as world head of the Zionists, was willing to accept it.

The then President of the United States, who exerted an unparalleled influence over American Jewry, played a double game, supporting both the Jewish and British positions with such skill as only he could display.

Subsequently war came and went. The Arabs were generally pro-Nazi, but the British, viewing the complicated problems of their waning empire, courted them. Mr. Roosevelt supported both the Jews and the Arabs so ingeniously that he kept, for himself, the support of the American Jew on election day, while he assisted the Arabs to recreate a universal state, financed by American money and credits.

Harry Truman inherited this situation and viewed it strictly in terms of an American election issue. He wanted to preserve the economic advantages of our association with the Arab universal state, whereas George Marshall wanted to maintain rigidly the diplomatic and military alliance with Great Britain which is the basis of his policy. But they did not wish to antagonize the Jewish vote in big cities.

The Partition Plan was put over by the United States on the assumption that it would assist Truman to be re-elected. As soon as Harry Truman's calculations were assured that not only would he not carry New York State, but that Henry Wallace would probably get more votes in New York City than the President, he decided to kill Partition, which they have done—killing the last vestige of UN authority along with it.

Their only excuse for killing Partition is that they cannot put it over, largely because they fear an international force lest the Russians demand representation on it equal to that of the United States. The Russians have 12 of 49 votes of countries other than the United States and Russia. It would undoubtedly include soldiers from behind-the-iron-curtain countries. Having no desire to face that issue, they junk the Charter of the United Nations. Is this the time and the way to abandon it?

Again, Trieste was an Italian city with a mixed population including Yugoslavs. It would have remained Italian, but to placate Stalin and Tito, we endangered the national existence of Italy, threatened the peace of the Mediterranean and imperiled France by making Trieste a "free territory" under a Governor-General appointed by the United Nations. The "free territory" is now junked and the United Nations on the eve of election, is encouraged to believe that Trieste will be returned to them. This is, of course, an election bribe and may be wonderful policy.

Manchuria and Ethiopia killed the League of Nations. Palestine and Trieste can kill the United Nations just as effectively. Is that the way the Administration on the eve of election, wants it so, what simply withdraw from UN and say that it was all a mistake? That would make more sense than the immature, opportunistic conduct of the past six months.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

PAIN IN NECK, SHOULDER AND ARM

In comparing the pain of sciatica with that of acute rheumatism, a patient who had suffered with both ailments stated that the pain of rheumatism was like having a limb in a vise and having the vise tightened to the operator's full strength, but sciatica was like having the operator give it one or two more turns.

Because the sciatic nerve is large, if not the largest nerve in the body, pressure on it gives intense pain. If this pressure is not raised or lifted, then morphine or another strong pain-killing drug is needed to relieve the pain.

However, just as pressure on the sciatic nerve or roots of the sciatic nerve can cause intense pain in the lower back, hip, and down the back of the leg, so can pressure of the roots of the nerve coming from the spinal column in the neck cause pain in the neck, shoulder and arm on the affected side.

And just as pressure on the lower back, hip, and leg is relieved by removal of pressure on the nerves of the lower spinal column, so can pain in the neck, shoulder and arm be relieved by removing pressure on the nerve roots in the upper part of the spinal column.

Just as the pressure in the lower spine is often caused by a ruptured disk between the bones of the spine, so a ruptured disk (due to a blow or fall on the head) may cause pain in the neck, shoulder and arm. Removal of this pressure gives relief.

However, this pain in the neck, shoulder and arm may not be caused by a ruptured disk but because, as we grow older and grow tired more easily, we allow ourselves to "droop" a little. This drooping, due to weakness or tiredness, causes the nerves coming from the spinal cord in the neck to also droop slightly. Therefore, in coming out through the little holes in the bones of the spinal column, the nerves press against the bony edges of these holes. This pressure causes pain and almost paralysis of the muscles.

In severe cases, surgery is often necessary to remove any obstruction and "straighten" the direction of the nerve, removing the "drooped" position.

In mild cases, standing erect, with osteopathic and massage treatment, may be sufficient to relieve the pressure and so relieve the pain.

Rheumatism and Arthritis

thinks that something should be done about the evils against which they are protesting.

The new "Who's Who in America" for the first time includes Tito and Molotov, included because Americans want to know the facts of their lives. Several times that number of movie stars and popular entertainers have been included. No one can say that really important individuals have been neglected.

Something Seems to Have Slipped

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Maurice Milligan, who sent Harry Truman's boss and patron to prison, has published the history of the Kansas City election frauds and related atrocities under the title of "Missouri Waltz." The design on the jacket is the criminal mug of No. 55,296, Tom Pendergast, who served an insufficient stretch of 15 months in Leavenworth.

President Truman was the protégé and creature of this gross, brutal and greedy ignoramus. Milligan's book reviews Truman's political life and reluctantly finds him, at last, not innocent.

With those relatively few other Americans who understood the wickedness of the Kansas City political machine, Milligan had tried to rationalize Truman's relationship to Pendergast and excuse his conduct. Now he finds that it can't be done. No honest man with a loathing for such criminals as Truman found congenial, even admiring, can agree with Milligan. Milligan can't make him decent. Milligan recalls that when Truman "assumed the greatest responsibility ever thrust on an American citizen, all Americans were for him."

That is true even of those who, by familiarity with the Kansas city crimes, had to keep in mind the depressing truth that Truman's whole career in politics was based upon fraud and corruption of the ballot and government. He had been the knowing beneficiary of notorious frauds in his elections to all the elective offices he has held up to the vice presidency of the United States.

The Pendergast machine in Truman's own active time protected the criminal underworld of prostitution, narcotics and bootlegging and shared in its revenues. Thus, frustrating the civil rights of the people, Truman knew that and how it was done. Pendergast himself had monopolized the concrete market for public and private building in a period of great activity. Truman knew that best of all for he served as member of the board which approved most of the public contracts. They walked in the through of W.P.A.

"In the weeks that immediately followed" Truman's inauguration to succeed Roosevelt, Milligan writes, "all of us were pulling for Truman. On his shoulders was the burden of the world."

But all Truman did was transfer his allegiance from old Tom to Tom's nephew and political heir, Jim Pendergast. In December, 1945, after he had become president, he publicly paid his dues to Jim Pendergast's political club, the same one through which old Tom had ruled and robbed the town. His check and the accompanying letter are framed on the wall of Jim Pendergast's office.

On the same wall hangs a White House portrait of President Truman inscribed "To James M. Pendergast—friend, confidant, adviser." He bade him to the White House as his family guest.

After Old Tom's release from prison he was forbidden by the terms of his parole to take active part in politics. The evasion was simple. He acted through Jim and Truman transferred his allegiance to the dictator's heir.

Jim is not a Johnny-concealer in the President's inner circle," Milligan writes. "It was Jim Pendergast who first brought Truman to the attention of Uncle Tom, back in 1922 when Truman was unknown."

Mr. Milligan's final abandonment of hope that decency might exist in Truman was restrained until in 1946 Truman ordered Jim Pendergast to purge Roger Slaughter, a Democratic congressman from Kansas City.

On Primary Day, Truman flew to Kansas City to help in the purge and on that day, in the old-fashioned Pendergast way, the gang stole the primary election for Truman's candidate. Enos Astill, Truman was the guest of honor, as it were, at an old gang rooster.

Scandal ensued, but the corruption had now spread notoriously to the Department of Justice in Washington. The federal investigation and prosecutions stopped dead. However, a county grand jury found indictments and the evidence, consisting mostly of ballots and records, was taken to Kansas City for safekeeping. On the night of May 27, 1947, as Truman slept in Kansas City, the vault of the courthouse was blown and the evidence was stolen. And still the Department of Justice stalled and faked.

Milligan had convicted 259 of Truman's and the Pendergast's henchmen of vote frauds in the 1936 election. Of all the 278 who were indicted for most unbelievable rascalties in the polling, 19 were dismissed, but all who went to trial were convicted.

Yet, Truman, then serving Pendergast in the Senate, rose up in the chamber in 1938, in the midst of Milligan's conduct of these trials, to oppose his reappointment. It was an outrageous attempt to influence the verdicts. President Roosevelt for some reason, reappointed Milligan nevertheless, but in 1945, when he had become vice president, Truman finally was able to eliminate Milligan and substitute a man more to his moral and political liking.

Truman's current political troubles with the old solid south arise from a pretense of high moral concern about civil liberties and the right to vote.

But it was Milligan who be thought himself of a dead-letter law, ample to the southern case today, to punish Truman's own gang in Kansas City for conspiring to violate the constitutional right of the citizen to vote in elections and his right that his vote shall be counted.

Against that, Truman, in the Senate, stoutly defended. "A Jackson count 'em. Democracy has as much right to a fair trial in the Federal Court in the western district of Missouri," Truman said, "as a Jew would have under Hitler. Indictments have been made wholesale. Convictions have been a foregone conclusion. Verdicts have been directed."

Milligan refused to be drawn out but Judge Reeves said the Truman speech was a speech of a man nominated by ghost votes, and elected by ghost votes and probably written by ghost writers.

This Kansas city story is the story of Harry Truman, for he has always allied himself with the lowest elements in Kansas City and Missouri politics. Lower elements have never existed in the United States.

The hypocrisy of the play for the Negro vote is nailed in these words of Mr. Milligan: "When you corrupt my neighbor's ballot you corrupt mine. When you destroy the right of free men to cast an honest vote you strike at the heart of democracy. Tom Pendergast owned Kansas City, a municipality of half a million souls. The new Pendergastism is more menacing because it has at least the good will of the President of the United States."

—Close Ups—

IS TRUMAN SHADOW BOXING?

As Truman warns of the approach of war and calls for arming America he puts himself in a most awkward position.

For at all times since the shooting stopped in 1945 Truman has had the implied offer of the services of millions of soldiers and laborers who want to stop Communism.

These millions would not have to be transported across thousands of miles of ocean; they already are "over there." They are Chiang's men.

It is preposterous that the President should still refuse to support these dependable anti-Communists with arms and equipment, while he calls for conscripting and arming America's young men.

If Chiang and his men did not want to fight the Communists that would be another matter. But here, already in the field, are armies larger than we could train, equip and transport in two years. And if they are not up to our standards, give Chiang the hand grenades, mortars, machineguns and rifles and he will put in the field enough men to make up for the difference in efficiency.

Put Out the Fire
He would put 15,000,000 men in the field, given the equipment.

When the enemy attempts a good general will attempt to create a diversion. With one-fifth the money Truman wants to pour into Europe, Chiang would create the diversion for us. He would raise so much smoke on Stalin's front that the old man in the Kremlin would have to turn his back to Europe.

What sane reason has Truman for continuing to refuse to avail this nation of the opportunity offered by Nationalist China?

He and Secretary of State Marshall make the excuse that Chiang's government is corrupt.

Look who is casting the first stone! Was there ever another government as corrupt as the New Deal?

The excuse does not ring true. There must be some other reason or motive behind the boondoggling.

Douglas MacArthur, in a recent statement agreed that Chiang's house needed to be put in order. But he said you can't repair a house while it is afire; you've first got to put out the fire.

Besides, when did it become our business to set up or knock down or move the ruling government of another country?

Reds Would Bog Down
Aid or no aid, Chiang is preparing for a big spring offensive. The Communists have over 600,000 men in the Northeast, greatly outnumbering Nationalist forces. Air fields and sea ports have been frozen in, handicapping the government. They soon will begin to thaw. By June a major engagement should be well under way.

If Chiang has the wherewith to equip his men.

If he could acquire unlimited quantities of equipment he eventually would settle the Communist issue. For it is certain that as his armies grew, so would the Red armies grow. The younger military leaders taking over from Stalin would not be content to stand by and see their Chinese Red forces defeated. They would pull armies out of the West and send them East.

The fight would spread along a thousand mile front. It would go on into the next generation, after the fashion of Chinese wars. The Muscovites would bog down in China, as have all invaders before them; or they would wear themselves out on the border. The World Revolution would stop at Outer Mongolia.

Why, then, does not Truman help Chiang? Could it be that his advisers privately do not want Chiang to stymie Stalin?

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, March 23—Mr. and Mrs. Thor Fredenholm, of the Bronx motored here Sunday to inspect their village center place, the former George Hogan residence. The couple plan to make improvements to the property this spring.

Harold Wilkins of the east end of the village is a new pupil of the Shokan school.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters, summer visitors to Shokan, recently spent two days at the Longyear House on the old state road.

Alva Buley, Jr., is making good progress with the erection of his new house in the Tonawanda neighborhood of Ashokan. He has the framework and sheeting completed on the building which is the first home to be put up in that section in many years.

City people in town for the weekend included Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carlson of Brooklyn, who were at the home of Mrs. Carlson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gebelien.

March 23, 1910: Mrs. William H. (Catherine) Hogan died at the home of her son, Jacob H. Hogan, in Kingston. Funeral services were set for Saturday, March 26, at the West Methodist Church. She was survived by eight children including Mrs. David A. Simmons and Mrs. Elmer Cramer of West Hurley and Frank Hogan of Brown's Station.

James ("Jim") Rutherford, local farmer and stovewood dealer, delivered wood to customers by wagon Thursday for the first time in several weeks. What with both Ridge road and the shoulders of the state road being bare, Jim decided to lay aside his heavy bob-sleighs for the duration. It looks now as though there will not be any mud-slinging for some time as the road was soon freed of frost and set by the rains.

The hypocrisy of the play for the Negro vote is nailed in these words of Mr. Milligan: "When you corrupt my neighbor's ballot you corrupt mine. When you destroy the right of free men to cast an honest vote you strike at the heart of democracy. Tom Pendergast owned Kansas City, a municipality of half a million souls. The new Pendergastism is more menacing because it has at least the good will of the President of the United States."

(Copyright, 1948, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Scandal ensued, but the corruption had now spread notoriously to the Department of Justice in Washington. The federal investigation and prosecutions stopped dead. However, a county grand jury found indictments and the evidence, consisting mostly of ballots and records, was taken to Kansas City for safekeeping. On the night of May 27, 1947, as Truman slept in Kansas City, the vault of the courthouse was blown and the evidence was stolen. And still the Department of Justice stalled and faked.

Milligan had convicted 259 of Truman's and the Pendergast's henchmen of vote frauds in the 1936 election. Of all the 278 who were indicted for most unbelievable rascalties in the polling, 19 were dismissed, but all who went to trial were convicted.

Yet, Truman, then serving Pendergast in the Senate, rose up in the chamber in 1938, in the midst of Milligan's conduct of these trials, to oppose his reappointment. It was an outrageous attempt to influence the verdicts. President Roosevelt for some reason, reappointed Milligan nevertheless, but in 1945, when he had become vice president, Truman finally was able to eliminate Milligan and substitute a man more to his moral and political liking.

Truman's current political troubles with the old solid south arise from a pretense of high moral concern about civil liberties and the right to vote.

But it was Milligan who be thought himself of a dead-letter law, ample to the southern case today, to punish Truman's own gang in Kansas City for conspiring to violate the constitutional right of the citizen to vote in elections and his right that his vote shall be counted.

Against that, Truman, in the Senate, stoutly defended. "A Jackson count 'em. Democracy has as much right to a fair trial in the Federal Court in the western district of Missouri," Truman said, "as a Jew would have under Hitler. Indictments have been made wholesale. Convictions have been a foregone conclusion. Verdicts have been directed."

Milligan refused to be drawn out but Judge Reeves said the Truman speech was a speech of a man nominated by ghost votes, and elected by ghost votes and probably written by ghost writers.

This Kansas city story is the story of Harry Truman, for he has always allied himself with the lowest elements in Kansas City and Missouri politics. Lower elements have never existed in the United States.

The hypocrisy of the play for the Negro vote is nailed in these words of Mr. Milligan: "When you corrupt my neighbor's ballot you corrupt mine. When you destroy the right of free men to cast an honest vote you strike at the heart of democracy. Tom Pendergast owned Kansas City, a municipality of half a million souls. The new Pendergastism is more menacing because it has at least the good will of the President of the United States."

St. Remy, March 23—The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in the Dutch Reformed Church on Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold its annual Easter cafeteria supper and fancy article sale in the Sunday school room of the church on Tuesday, March 30. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public. Anyone desiring to call for supper to take home may do so at 5:30.

The Red Cross canvass in this village was made by Mrs. Tracy Van Vleet and Mrs. Wallace Wood. They collected $51.50.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the St. Remy Fire Department will sponsor a card party in Brecken's hall April 6.

Much of the current activity in connection with the Route 28 job is centered between Temple's Pond and the Glenford Church where bulldozers, shovels and trucks were clearing the scenery at a great rate last week. A big cut and fill job goes on near the railroad tracks, and there has been some interference with regular state road traffic this side of the former Nyakas place where a sliding shale bank is being eliminated on the north side of the highway.

Schuyler Bishop, who was born and brought up in the Tongore section of Olive, is making his home at Coxsack where he maintains a lively interest in civic affairs. Mr. Bishop was in the employ of the New York Central Railroad for more than 50 years previous to his retirement. He is a brother of Mrs. Lester B. Davis of Olive Bridge.

Our Old Timer, having hibernated, in part, during the winter, and being relieved of much of the "misery" with which he was so beset at diverse times, may again be seen strolling abroad in the spring sunshine. Our ancient friend looks considerably less rugged than was the case last fall. He has not tapped his maple trees as in his custom for many years in the past and allows that unless he gets over being short of wood and trembly in the legs, he'll not do much farm work at all. Old Timer took occasion to warn us to keep off the damp ground as much as possible for a spell yet as "Nature has started her housecleaning and the vapors 'n sech arising from the soil poses quite a health hazard, especially to folks subject to respiratory ailments." He is of the opinion, however, that "come trout fishing time, after the sun has worked on things for a spell, the soil will be purified proper for both humans and fishworms to contact."

Trade Publications Use New Method During Walkout

New York, March 24 (AP)—A number of trade publications today were distributing specially processed editions on the work stoppage of commercial printers went into its third day.

Delays in issuing some publications were reported. The trade papers, which were hit by the stoppage along with major book, magazine and job printing plants, bypassed the composing rooms by using the variable type process. The process prints from photo-engravings of material typewritten on special machines.

The work stoppage by commercial printers, members of the International Typographical Union (A.F.L.), grew from union dissatisfaction with new working rules posted by the employers, including a longer work week. The contract in the industry expired last December 31, and negotiations for a new one still are in progress.

Meanwhile, the same union offered a formula for settlement of the union-security difference with publishers of the city's 14 daily newspapers. These contracts expire March 31.

The newspaper publishers, who are not affected by the commercial printers' stoppage, were asked yesterday to incorporate in their new contract with Local 6 of the I.T.U. the same type of union-security formula which the union has worked out with the commercial printing industry.

Application of the formula for the commercial printers has been held in abeyance pending an agreement on wages, hours and other issues. The formula provides, among other things, that the union abandon its traditional closed shop policy and accept a union shop. The publishers told the union several days ago that if it gave up the closed shop policy, now banned by the Taft-Hartley law, the publishers would agree to restore the closed shop if and when it became legal again.

Representatives of the I.T.U. and the Publishers Association of New York City met yesterday to discuss the differences in the newspaper field. William Mapel, vice-chairman of the Publishers Association, said after the conference that another session will be held Friday.

Woodstock News

Soviet had announced the reduction of its army. I think this is the most disquieting, upsetting thing that has happened to us. Truman is taking a long chance and in this long calculated risk, would stake the lives of millions of people.

Several passages from the Bible were quoted by Pastor Ball, among them, "Jesus said if thine enemy hunger, feed him; for if thou shalt do this thou shalt win thy enemy's politics."

Few questions were brought up when the meeting was open for discussion from the floor, although Dr. Hans Cohn did point out that when a vote was taken last week on the U.M.T. bill, some 52 senators were undecided. Replying to this statement, the Rev. Mr. Ball replied that "in this lies a ray of hope."

Want Other Side

Following the meeting, several persons expressed to your reporter ideas contrary to those given by the speaker. When asked why they did not state their views from the floor, the reply was always the same: namely, they were not experienced speakers and were hesitant about a discussion for that reason. However, all agreed on the seriousness of the problems confronting this country and stated they would like an opportunity to hear a presentation by a trained speaker of the other side of the story and then have an open discussion. Another thought advanced by the minority was that such talks and discussions should be held in the town hall which would attract a much larger audience of truly interested residents.

Ex-Czech Disagrees

An American citizen who until the past few years was a citizen of Czechoslovakia, stated upon questioning by your reporter, that he absolutely disagreed with the speaker's remarks about Communism in his native land, and felt very strongly about having the opposite viewpoint presented. The industrialists were denounced with effect by the Rev. Mr. Ball for what he described as "their war-mongering practices" and stated that about 20 such industrialists were now running the government.

Before introducing the speaker, Mrs. Philip Fitz Patrick, chairman, presented a request by Mrs. Frank Boudreau that letters be written to Washington asking for immediate action on the world health legislation.

Mrs. Fitz Patrick also announced that no meeting would be held on Easter Sunday but on the Sunday following; the topic would be the Palestine situation. The name of the speaker will be announced later.

Blind Persons Protected By New State Statute

Albany, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed two bills today to prohibit discrimination against blind persons accompanied by seeing-eye dogs.

One measure, introduced by Assemblyman Gladys E. Banks, Bronx Republican, would make it a misdemeanor to bar such a person from a public place "unless the admission . . . tended to create a dangerous situation."

Her bill applies to hotels, theatres, restaurants, "other public places of amusement" and common carriers.

The other bill would permit "properly harnessed and muzzled" seeing-eye dogs to ride "in the immediate presence" of their blind masters on any common carrier. It was sponsored by Senator Paul A. Fino, also a Bronx Republican.

Colleges Are Continued

Albany, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—Governor Dewey signed today a bill continuing for a third year the state's emergency colleges, which he said had been "eminently successful." The institutions, operated by the Associated Colleges of Upper New York, were established in 1946 to help accommodate the flood of veterans demanding higher education. The three emergency colleges—Champlain, Mohawk and Sampson—were augmented last year by establishment of an extension center at Middletown.

Ashamed About Bullet

Atlanta, March 24 (AP)—The prolonged nose bleeding of a 16-year-old high school boy mystified doctors here—until X-rays revealed a bullet lodged near his brain. Then Robert G. Liggett admitted what he had been ashamed to tell before: that he had shot himself accidentally Sunday night. The detective said the youth told him he was inspecting the gun when it discharged. The bullet penetrated the roof of his mouth and ranged upward toward his brain. The youth said he went to bed without first aid of any kind, but saw a doctor Monday when his nose began bleeding excessively. Hospital attendants said no effort would be made to remove the slug at this time.

WORLD'S SMALLEST HEARING AID

After years of war-time and post-war research BELTONE today makes a new powerful one-unit hearing aid... so small it can slip into a man's watch pocket or clip to a woman's brassiere. You should learn about BELTONE'S MAGNETIC SILVER CIRCUIT which eliminates over forty parts... reducing service to a minimum. It is moisture proof... perspiration proof. Learn, too, about the new M-2 Ear Receiver (world's smallest—hardly visible in the ear) that transmits 2 to 6 times more clear hearing intensity. And to top it all off there is no separate battery pack... no entangling cords. This instrument is a triumph of scientific craftsmanship and explains why over 100,000 people have purchased the Beltone one-unit hearing aid. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated Maundy Thursday at the Rosendale Reformed Church starting at 7:45 o'clock. There will be a sacrament message. As has been the custom, there will be no music with this service. The special Lenten services will be brought to a close with the Good Friday evening service starting at 7:45 o'clock. The topic of the message will be "The People on Calvary."

It is anticipated that the usual program of closing stores and other places of business will be followed this year in the village on Good Friday. From 1 to 3 p. m. in the Rosendale Reformed Church there will be sacred organ music appropriate to the day. Miss Dorothy Schneider will be the organist. Brief messages setting forth the Seven Words from the Cross will be given by the pastor. ## PM Will Continue

New York, March 24 (AP)—Marshall Field III will continue publishing the newspaper PM until April 9, two weeks beyond the scheduled March 26 closing date. Announcement of the extension of PM's life was made in a joint statement issued by Louis Weiss, secretary of the newspaper; Thomas J. Murphy, executive vice-president of the C.I.O. Newspaper Guild and Nathan Aleskovsky, PM Guild unit chairman. The new deadline was requested by Field and accepted by the Guild. The publisher, Weiss said, is considering the proposals of "several serious potential buyers."

Young Musicians Show Promise for Orchestras, Bands, at Schools' First Instrumental Concert

The brightness in the future of instrumental music in the city's schools received its first gloss last night at the first Instrumental Music Festival ever sponsored by the music department of the school system was presented at Kingston High School. A sense of pride in the many possibilities ahead was the feeling which ran through the audience Roy A. Edel-felt and Robert Van Valkenburgh, instructors, conducted the program.

The All-Grade Orchestra already has a tone quality that equals the high school group and there were not many sour notes. The pieces were simple but this large group of 75 were playing together for the first time in public and most of them are in their first year on the instruments. Since the school year started in September, this means they have only studied six months.

As has been reported the Myron J. Michael School Orchestra is the best ensemble in the schools. Conducted by Mr. Edel-felt this group has the promise of an excellent string section. These students seem to have caught the spirit of the music and have advanced to the point of playing with expression and interesting shading. They also make the best appearance as to posture. Even the bass drummer's extra swirl with the drumstick will be an important addition to the high school group. Their selections were Poem by Elbert, Londonberry Air arranged by J. C. Zamecnik, Tales from the Vienna Woods, J. Strauss.

Both the high school band and orchestra have improved. The band instrumentation, of course, is not nearly complete with very little bass. Mr. Van Valkenburgh directs this group. The orchestra under the direction of Mr. Edel-felt is coming along. It faithfully mastered selections from Romberg's The

New Moon in a medley arranged by Paul which was the longest selection of the evening.

All of the small ensembles were significant as the advanced students performed more difficult works. The Spring and Woodwind ensemble are to be complimented for playing Mozart's Quintet for String Quartet and Clarinet. Those taking part were Susanne Dunbar, Gloria Lamphere, Betty Keator, Geoffrey Fletcher, Justine Van Bramer, Joyce Van Bramer, Nancy Bannum, Gail DeWitt and Mr. Edel-felt.

The brass quintet chose Deep River arranged by G. Trinkaus and Trilling from Lawrence's Suite. The musicians were Bruce Wilson, Rodney Wells, Raymond Pardee, Harry Castiglione and Mr. Van Valkenburgh. Each Goes To Town by Alec Templeton was the choice of the Clarinet Quartet of Richard Campbell, Donald DeWitt, Joseph McNierney and Connie Reppert.

The Mashed Group at the close of the concert must have been an inspiration for the young people. The entire stage was packed for the playing of Sibelius's Finlandia directed by Mr. Edel-felt; and the Marine's Hymn, directed by Mr. Van Valkenburgh. Instrumental concerts are always entertaining by just watching the expressions of the youngsters. Last night the drum section for the high school groups provided the amusement. They counted bars of music, ran off stage to gather some more instruments which would be needed in a few seconds, only chewed gum ruminatively in time to the music, and all went blithely along almost as a separate unit, having their own little act, connected to the ensemble only by sudden bursts of rhythm. Also noticed was the young pianist for the grade orchestra who played second piano for the matted group without any selection from Romberg's The

LARGE DINNER PARTY AT SMALL TABLES

A reader tells me: "When we give a big dinner at the country club, we all cannot be seated at one table. Those at the club are round and hold only six comfortably. How should my husband and I be seated at such a time?"

You, of course, sit at one table and your husband at another. Probably the two that are set furthest apart. He would have the most important lady on his right and you would have her husband on your right. Correctly, of course, all husbands and wives should be separated from each other. Further than this, you seat people wherever you think it will be pleasing to them.

Divorce Situation

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter (by a previous marriage) will be a summer bride. Both parents were remarried when she was very young. Her father died two years ago. That leaves his second wife and one sister as the only two living relatives on her father's side. My problem is, should I (her mother) and my husband (her stepfather) who raised her send invitations to the wedding and the breakfast to these two women. I mean, will it be the proper thing to do? We want no criticism if we can help it.

Answer: If you and they have remained on friendly terms, you should certainly send invitations to them. The attitude of the divorced has relaxed so greatly during the past few years that outsiders surely would not feel inclined to criticize the presence of these women in your house.

If Friendship Is Likely

Dear Mrs. Post: When someone introduces me and mispronounces my name, is it proper for me to interrupt and give the correct pronunciation of it?

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pelham of Williams Lake. She wore an aqua suit with pink and brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white hyacinths.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. James Foulon of Santa Barbara, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom. Mrs. Foulon wore a light blue suit with white and brown accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

A dinner for the wedding party was held at the Hitching Post, Casimira, Calif. Later the newlyweds left for a trip to Long Beach, Pasadena and San Bernardino.

Mrs. Tognetti is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of '31, and at present is owner of the Yarncraft Shop in Lompoc, Calif. The bridegroom is a graduate of Lompoc High School and is carpenter foreman at Johns Mansville in Lompoc.

Reception at House of Bridegroom's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever proper to have a wedding reception at the home of the bridegroom's parents instead of the bride's?

Answer: On occasion, yes, especially when their families are intimate friends. Still more especially when the bride is a foreigner who is being welcomed by her future family-in-law.

Who pays for the wedding expenses? Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-4, lists the expenses of the bride's family and also the expenses of the bridegroom. ## Dewey Signs Bill Boosting Troopers' Annual Incomes

Albany, N. Y., March 24 (AP)—Governor Dewey approved today a bill "radically" increasing State Police salaries, effective April 1. The measure provides both permanent and temporary raises ranging from $1,005 for troopers to $2,425 for Deputy Superintendent George M. Searle.

The bill makes permanent three emergency wartime pay boosts, increases seven annual increments from $200 to $250 each and gives troopers the same temporary cost-of-living pay raises granted other state employees for 1948-49.

The cost-of-living increases range from 15 per cent for those paid less than $3,000 annually to 8.9 per cent for the higher paid. The permanent maximum pay of trooper with seven years' experience now is $2,100. But he draws $2,562 because of three temporary wartime boosts. The approved bill sets a permanent maximum of $2,700, which the new temporary cost-of-living raise will boost to $3,105.

Actually, the pay of such a trooper will rise April 1 from $2,562 to $3,105. In addition, continuation of a $3.50 daily allowance in lieu of meals provides another $1,050, boosting his annual cash income to $4,155, an official source said.

Corresponding increases go to those in the 34 grades between trooper and deputy superintendent. Searle's old maximum pay of $8,700 climbs to $8,500, plus a temporary raise making it $9,325.

The starting base pay for rookies jumps from $900 a year to $1,200. However, the 30 per cent wartime boosts made the rookies' starting pay $1,170. The new temporary increases will make it $1,380.

All salaries are figured exclusive of special allowances for lodgings, uniforms, equipment and medical attention.

When the pay raise plan was submitted to the Legislature January 30, Paul E. Lockwood, secretary to the governor, said approval would enable New York to "lead the nation in payments to its state troopers."

The program, he said, "radically overhauled" State Police salary scales.

The State Police force, down to about 425 men during the war, has an estimated strength of 700, compared with its authorized complement of 900.

750 Fur Concerns To Close in April Pending Contract

New York, March 24 (AP)—Representatives of 750 New York firms which do most of the nation's fur manufacturing have voted to close their factories April 2. They plan to stay shut until a new agreement is signed with the C.I.O. Furriers Union.

The action was given final approval yesterday by the membership of the Associated Fur Coat and Trimming Manufacturers, Inc., which is deadlocked in contract negotiations with the C.I.O. Furriers joint Council of New York.

Although 15,000 union members are employed in the plants during the peak seasons, the shutdown would affect only a fraction of this number because this is a slack season. The union says the shutdown would cost the 15,000 workers about $1,000,000 a week in wages. Spokesmen for the union, which is fighting the planned shutdown in Federal Court, say about 12,000 workers already have been laid off because of slow business, and many of those still working are on part-time.

An employer spokesman said, however, that this is a time of year when employment starts to pick up.

The principal dispute is a demand by the employers for a return to the pre-war system of two wage scales—one for the busy June-to-January season and a lower one for the slack January-to-June season.

Employers also have demanded that union leaders sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley Law.

The union had no immediate comment.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE FIANO

Echoes of Saratoga Springs:

Everything else equal, both teams at their absolute peak and we would pick Kingston by at least 10 points over Mont Pleasant. Now that the last three ounces of sanity has been restored following that nightmarish adventure in the land of oat burners and you look back in cold retrospect, you could see the obvious superiority, poise, ball handling and drive of the Maroons. But the kids were taut, tense and Mont Pleasant the more. The excessive fouling by Sig Mukofski's Red Raiders reflected the greater pressure on the Section 2 Kingpins. Nobody from Kingston came back convinced that the Maroon's superiority over Mont Pleasant was truly reflected in the final score. It was true that Weaver and company blew shots they ordinarily would make, but this was no ordinary game. Weaver still paid off 15 points in the boxscore, showed sang froid poise from the foul line and bucketed the tying deuce with 15 seconds to go. That isn't exactly a bad night. We think Liberty High would give Mont Pleasant quite a battle anytime. The man of the hour, of course, was "The Paw," emotional, high-strung Joe Albany the man with hands that big. He played the greatest game of his career in the greatest victory ever achieved by a Kingston High School basketball squad. Ronnie Scheffel, well, he has only started to show his real class. "Wait until next year" may be a gag in Brooklyn, but in Kingston it's a promise of better things to come. Young Scheffel, unless we miss our guess, is another in the long line of 14-karat "naturals" developed by Coach Kias.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Remember the old days when K.H.S. athletes used to flock to Union and R.P.L.? Now it's Hartwick, Bhamo, Rider and St. John. Siena College of Albany with definite big time basketball aspirations would probably be interested seriously in any graduate of the 1947-48 Maroon machine. Art Brew, 6-foot, 3-inch Kingston youth, was top scorer on the Albany Business College Junior varsity combine that closed its season recently with an 11-2 record. Brew divided his time between the Jaycees and varsity and collected 70 points in nine games. He missed several key shots in the season because of a broken ankle. Walter's thumping victory over Highland High in the Class B Section Nine finals jarred the southern Ulster coaters. C. Everett Stevens, physical director of Newburgh Free Academy who addresses the K.A.A.'s "Appreciation Night" tonight is a fine speaker with a lot of good stories. He will pay high tribute to his long time coaching rival, G. Warren Kias, and it is in shrewd fashion. J. C. Harrison, the Middletown "shadow" certainly has done well by K.H.S. in publicity.

Of Men and Mice:

There is no truth to the rumor that the Kingston Bowling Association's nomination slate for 1948-49 is about to unveil the long sought indispensable man. I see by the papers that Buddy Bonar, the Chicago bowling star, pulled a "Kieffer" and was set down for six months. Alky declining is okay we suppose so long as you don't get caught. These are days in bowling when scoresheets disappear mysteriously and the staidest bowler in the game, Mr. Reed, starts popping up all over the terrain. The chips will be played Sunday at the Central Recs when the two contenders, Hotel Ulsters and Newburgh Shapiros, roll side by side. Ulsters take on Poughkeepsie P.V.C. and Shapiros tangle with Van Kleeck's. Ulsters will have the team captain, the Rev. Father Henry E. Hordgeon and Johnny Ferraro's favorite chiropractor on hand. He will throw in a psychiatrist. Nick Leone and Tony Mack, two of Newburgh's three top leggers, riding bliskily in second place in the ABC doubles with 1254.

Brooks Headed for Title?

The Dave Brooks-Cifton Quick natural will decide the 1948 pocket billiard title, although a playoff could be necessary if the defending champion defeated the youthful challenger. This is a hard one to predict. You don't mortgage the family home betting against clutch competitors like Quick, although on form Brooks figures to win. We have a vague recollection of that same sentiment when Cifton opened his kid brother, Harold, in last year's finals. Bob Browning would have been awfully upset if the floating ice in the pond had suddenly reversed its fluid. We couldn't think of a manner trick unless it was using your aged grandmother through a forest fire with a load of wood on her back. Coley Wallace and John "Spider" Thompson won for New York in the Inter-City Golden Gloves. Wallace was not too impressive but "The Spider" engaged in a sensational brawl with Fernando Rivera of Kansas City.

Kentucky-Oiler Clash Seen Highlight of Olympic Trials

New York, March 24 (AP)—sided triumph, here's the way the Can Kentucky beat Bartlesville's famed Oilers in the Olympic basketball trials.

The question may be a bit premature but cage customers who saw the wonderful Wildcatters from the Kentucky route Baylor, 58-42, for the N.C.A.A. championship last night already were discussing the possible duel of these two mighty quintets. And the fans were anticipating an individual clash between two great centers, Alex Groza, 6-7 Kentucky pivot, and the Oilers seven-foot Bob Kurland. Before the teams can meet, Kentucky must win two games in its bracket of the trials while the Oilers have to do the same in the independent part of the tourney. Both are heavily favored to come through for the final in Madison Square Garden, Wednesday, March 31.

As a result of Kentucky's one-

Fire-Alarm Ball Proves Too Much For Gil Kelder

The smartest man on the floor during the Dawkins Favorites-Rosendale Valley Inn game last night at the municipal auditorium was veteran Gil Kelder.

After huffing and puffing through a couple of minutes of that four-alarm style of the former K.H.S. basketballers, the aging Wild Horse suddenly called time out and addressed Referee Vince Knoll:

"Excuse me, while I sit out the rest of this dance." Nothing could drag him back either.

P.E.—The Dawkins Favorites won their Mid-Hudson Valley tournament debut by the overwhelming margin of 88-46 over a Rosendale quintet that has fashioned a pretty respectable record against area competition this season.

Lead By 31-9 Employing the fast break at terrifying speed, the "kids" rolled up a 31-9 halftime margin and then ground out points at an alarming rate after the recess.

The Rosendalers appeared to have more speed than the Kingston Legionnaires against the former Maroons but the final results were just as disastrous.

Big Ed Weaver poured in 25 points, Mike Rienzo had 19, Bob Gear 13 and so on down the line. It was the biggest point total ever recorded by the group.

"Swede" Holmgren and Jack McCormick had 16 and 12 respectively for the Valley Inn. The losers made a strong finish against a relaxed Dawkins defense to save themselves from complete annihilation.

An unidentified wag made a bid for immortality when with about seven minutes to go and Rosendale trailing by 40 points he shattered the auditorium stillness with a sardonic "freeze it, freeze it," as the gammen came in with an out of bounds ball. That just about told the story.

In the companion feature, Montgomery Legion after a slow start warmed up to rout Stamford Legion, 54-25.

'Learn to Hit to Left Field', Cobb's Advice to Williams

Boston, March 24 (AP)—Hospitalized here by an ailing gail blinder, Ty Cobb, one of baseball's greatest sluggers, today had some words of advice for one of his most promising diamond successors—the Boston Red Sox' famed Ted Williams.

"Learn to hit to left field," the 61-year-old Georgia peach suggested to the American League's current triple batting champion. "You should be able to hit to all fields, regardless of how the defenses are stacked against you. Joe Jackson could hit them anywhere, regardless of how they shifted against him. And Babe Ruth always could overcome defenses by checking up his bat and punching into left field."

Asked how he would react against the current and almost universal "Williams shift," Cobb replied:

"If they ever insulted me in that fashion, I'd switch from the left to the right side of the batter's box, get away from the plate and push the enemy back into their natural fielding stations."

"If Williams keeps hitting against this shift, he's going to lose a lot of base hits during the course of a season. He'll find it almost impossible to slap a ground ball through the right side of the infield when his opponents get away back on the grass and cover every foot from first to second base."

Cobb was easily persuaded to pick the All-Star team of his own golden baseball era.

"It would include George Sisler on first base, Eddie Collins at second, Honus Wagner at short, Buck Weaver at third and Jackson, Ruth and Tris Speaker in the outfield."

"Mickey Cochrane would be their catcher. And even they would need pitchers. I suppose, so I'd give them Walter Johnson, Ol' Pete Alexander, Christy Mathewson and, for good measure, Carl Hubbell and Eddie Plank."

Mitchell Promoted By Montgomery Ward

Raymond Mitchell, former head of the sporting goods department at the local store of Montgomery Ward & Company, was recently appointed regional field merchandiser of the company's eastern territory, it was announced today.

The local man was transferred from the Kingston store last spring to head the sporting goods department of the store in Cumberland, Md. He was promoted last week and began his new duties Monday.

The territory over which he has charge extends from Maine to Florida, and it was reported that he will make his headquarters in Kingston.

Scores were generally good in the circuit. Joe Dulin the veteran southpaw shot 218-182-203-603; Harry Secotte 191-224-591; F. Nagy 223-544; T. Boras 200; Irv Wilpan 200-215-595; F. Talarowski 203-568; Murphy 204; Mitzle Arlensky 200-197-568; Paulick 211, Christiana 209.

Bowling Scores

The "500" series once a wild dream for Mrs. Tess Moss appears to be only routine nowadays. The popular midtown leglerette who rates as one of the best bowling prospects for 1948-49 smashed 531 to take individual honors in the Emerick Ladies League last night.

Mrs. Moss rolled consistently with sets of 185, 168 and 178. Two pins behind came Marge Jansen, a perennial leader with 164-212-183-529. Bea Barley shot 515 with 183-177. Jo Smith also hit the top bracket with 176-177-164-521.

Vining Cracks 659

A belated City League report reveals that Scott Vining puled the pocket consistently to pile up a 659 series to lead the Monday night traveling circuit. He poured in 231, 245 and 201 as Livingstons had a night for themselves with 1077 and 2918. Lou Gundagnola packed 237-606, Phil Masters 204 and Clary Budden-hagen 243-588. Carl Beatty of Im-manuels shot 201-568.

Stevens Has Great Record

C. Everett Stevens, physical director of Newburgh Free Academy who speaks before the Kingston Athletic Association tonight has an outstanding record as a track and football coach.

Mr. Stevens a contemporary of Coach G. Warren Kins of Kingston High in the DUSO coaching field for the past two decades, will be the principal speaker at "Appreciation Night" ceremonies honoring the undefeated Kingston High School basketball team and their coach.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the club headquarters on Fair street. The K.A.A. will make presentations to the individual members of the high school squad and to Coach Kins.

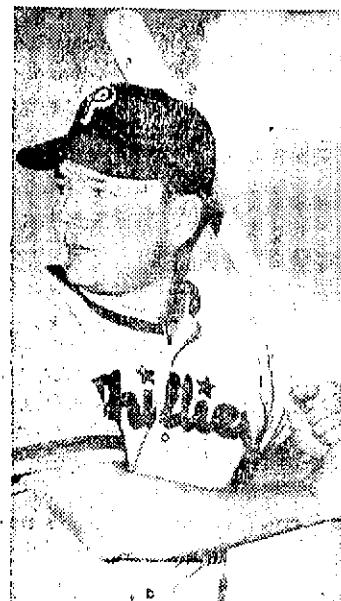

Stevens-coached track teams have dominated the DUSO and Section Nine for 20 years, losing only twice in that span, both times to Kingston. He has also compiled the best football record in the loop. A capable, witty speaker Mr. Stevens is expected to prove another top attraction for K.A.A.

sador to the United States, Alexander S. Panayushkin.

"We see many things transpiring which could well lead us to doubt the sincere desire for peace on the part of some of our leaders who have come to power by accident of fate."

"Taylor praised Wallace as the 'greatest' of American democratic leaders.

Meanwhile, Gen. Douglas MacArthur wrote a Wisconsin supporter of his candidacy for the Republican Presidential nomination that he has been marked down as the American Communist party's 'primary target.' It was this fact, the general added, which prompted his decision to enter the race openly.

In Albany yesterday, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, another Presidential aspirant, termed Mr. Truman's handling of foreign policy 'inadequate and vacillating.' He called at a news conference for a 'hard-boiled' program to halt Communist expansion.

Democratic Chairman McGrath interpreted Dewey's remarks as essentially an endorsement of Mr. Truman's own program.

Steele Tells Lions About Wrestling From Experience

The story of wrestling based on his personal experiences was told to the Kingston Lions Club at its luncheon meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday, by Bob Steele, former heavyweight wrestler, who now lives in this city.

Some unscrupulous promoters, the speaker stressed, damaged the reputation of wrestling as an outstanding national sport and made virtual burlesque shows of matches that were billed as featured attractions.

The former wrestler, who also once held the inter-collegiate swimming championship of the nation, now operates a silversmith shop. He resides at 67 Abeel street, and he explained that his decision to settle in Kingston followed a visit here some time ago when he stayed at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Several incidents, many of them humorous, drawn from his own experiences in the wrestling ring, were recounted in his talk yesterday.

A veteran of World War 2, he was wounded in action. It is his plan, to make Kingston his permanent home, and he intends to take an active part in the affairs of the community.

The committee in charge of the promotion of "The Kingston Area on Parade," the club's industrial and mercantile exposition, reported it an outstanding success and stressed that it will be held next year.

Demonstrate Modern Ranges

Cooking School Is Popular Feature at Montgomery Ward

Over 100 people attended the opening of Montgomery Ward's second annual cooking school and demonstration, which is being conducted by Miss Dorothy Rhodes from the home service department of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, assisted by Miss Kay Meddaugh of the same company.

The cooking school will be held in the basement of Montgomery Ward's store, continuous through Thursday March 25, each afternoon at 2 p. m.

Miss Rhodes demonstrated the use of the Montgomery Ward own electric range in cooking various types of food. She also explained the many fine points of the range, such as the electric timer clock, which is built right in on the range. This ingenious device allows the housewife to take the afternoon off, while the timer automatically turns the heat in the oven on at a selected time and then turns it off as per order of the housewife who sets the clock. Kitchen radios may also be attached to the timer clock, making sure one will not miss a favorite program.

She also spoke of the seven controlled heats of the range, which she demonstrated at various times during the afternoon. Another factor of the range, she brought out was the acid resisting top, which milk or many other foods will not stain.

She prepared and cooked a steamed fruit pudding in the "deep well cooker" of the range and brought out the fact that "anything you can cook on the surface, can also be cooked in the deep well." It is very good for deep fat frying as well as steaming.

Miss Rhodes and Miss Meddaugh prepared an oven meal, including barbecued spareribs, stuffed baked potatoes, succotash, cinnamon bread, and strawberry rhubarb pie. In this, she brought out the point of the "clear view" window on the oven door of the range, which enables the housewife to see her food baking without opening the oven door.

She demonstrated the Nesco Chef casserole, which is thermostatically controlled, with an insert pan, which is not only easy to keep clean, but can be used for cooking and baking most every kind of food, such as meats, biscuits, puddings and many other foods. Another nice feature of this casserole is that it may be used on your table when you desire to keep food hot. This casserole can also be used with a timer clock.

transport. A sixth was seated in the burned out radio-cockpit. Two bodies were located about a mile from the wreckage when searchers persisted on the possibility that there were more than the officially listed eight men aboard. Lt. P. A. Toomey, casualty officer of the Fairfield-Suisun Air Base, said the identification of two men who boarded the plane just before it departed was not immediately known.

In addition to the survivors, the others known to be aboard were:

Capt. Frederic J. Ziegler, Jr., Portland, Ore.; William H. Tillery, Fairfield, Calif.; Capt. Wilky A. Garber, Oakland, Calif.; 1st Lt. David H. Griess, Vallejo, Calif.; Sgt. Stephen J. Pressey, Oakland, Calif., and Pvt. Olm Ralph Horn, Longview, Wash.

Major Harding was quoted as saying the plane flew into a "thunderhead" at about 3,000 feet altitude. He said the plane flipped over, but by the time it was righted again, they had lost altitude and crashed.

The crash occurred about 10 miles northeast of here.
